

Personal Information

Full name	Hsin-Ying Lee
Current position	Professor
Organization	National Cheng Kung University
Country	Taiwan

Short Biography

Hsin-Ying Lee was born in Uinlin, Taiwan, Republic of China, on Mar. 8, 1977. She received her B.S. degree in Electronic Engineering from the Chung Yuan Christian University, Chung-Li, Taiwan, in 1999. She received Ph.D. degree in Institute of Optical Sciences, National Central University, Chung-Li, Taiwan, in 2003.

She worked at National Formosa University, before she joined the Department of Photonics, National Cheng Kung University, Tainan, Taiwan, as an assistant professor in 2004. She was an associate professor in Department of Photonics, National Cheng Kung University from 2009 to 2014. She is a professor in Department of Photonics, National Cheng Kung University since 2014. Her current research interests include nano materials and devices, light emitting diodes, photodetectors, solar cells, and thin film transistors.